Examination items in the health check-up for students

○ You should undergo all of these items if you would need a health certificate later. (For example, employment)

* Any health reports or health certificates including additional items cannot be issued until about June.

① Urinalysis, blood pressure, height and weight, and medical history are required. Usually, medical history is taken by filling in the “Questionnaire.” However, a face-to-face doctor consultation will be conducted for students who have health problems or who request it for any reason.

② Eyesight test is usually optional.
However, this is required for students who need a health certificate later.

③ Students for whom chest radiography is required are as follows:

Undergraduate freshmen
First-year students in the master’s course, the professional course, and the doctoral course
First-year and third-year students in 5-year term doctoral program of the Graduate School of Asian and African Area Studies, and Advanced Integrated Studies in Human Survivability
First-year students in the Graduate School of Government, the Graduate School of Management, and the Law School
Students in the Faculty of Medicine (including the School of Health Sciences) and the Graduate School of Medicine/Public Health who are in their first year and are scheduled to be engaged in clinical works.
Research students, credited auditors, and auditors
Students who are scheduled to participate in teacher training
Students aged 40 years or more
Students who had abnormal findings in the past chest X-rays or are directed to take annual check.

Notes

- 1) If you want to skip the chest X-ray for a good reason even though it is required, please ask it at the interview desk.
- 2) If you have already undergone a chest X-ray since this January, please tell it at the interview desk to avoid double irradiation.
